

THE COMPANY

In today's complex construction environment our innovative expertise, analysis and carefully crafted approach can help bring security to construction process. AKSM implements high accuracy applications which allow us to obtain precious indications of the behavior of a structure and of the fields behaviors on which the site is situated.

By using high precision equipment, software and methodologies and especially with many years of experience in the field of laser scanning, the company can provide results, to meet the requirements of delicate projects